PROGRAM

Of Unusual Beauty Will Be Rendered

At The Festival Concert
Wednesday Evening

The strongest and most attractive program, in a popular way, is always a miscellaneous one, and especially is this so of music. Realizing this truth the music committee of the association has prepared for Wednesday evening an attractive program as has probably ever been given in Mt. Vernon. It will consist of real gems picked from the world's best music and is remarkable in the variety of the selections to be offered. Every piece on the program has been especially selected for its beauty and for its appeal to the average personality. Each one will be found to be melodious and abounding in soft measures. In fact all the beauty of a May Festival will be crowded into one evening with the dull parts left out.

Mrs. Wilbur T. Mills the noted organist of Columbus, will play the accompaniments throughout the concert and will open the program with one of her noted organ numbers playing the famous overture from Tannhauser by Wagner. Mr. Vaughan will follow giving Beethoven's beautiful "Adelaide." A double number will come next, the chorus singing "The Night" by Rheinberger and a choral from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger." These will be followed by a duet by both artists and five solo numbers by each, interspersed by chorus numbers. Altogether the evening will long be remembered as an enjoyable and delightful one. Take for instance the chorus "Daybreak" and you will find it suffused with grand luscious moments and an air of freshness which makes one feel that life to those who really live is indeed one grand sweet song. The last part especially is soft and low with beautiful vanishing melodies. Another chorus "The Bedouin Song" is a great love story set to passionate music. The trained chorus of one hundred voices needs no word of commendation after last year's triumphs, and it can be taken for granted that the artists are the best possible to secure. Your absence will be an irreparable loss especially to yourself.
